IT COULD HAVE BEEN . . . BUT IT WASN'T . . . $50,000

Last week the City was full of conversation about the "bag with $50,000" found by a negro workman somewhere on Avenue E.

"I don't think so," and "Yes, it was, too, I heard . . . and they say saw the bag." All these and similar arguments pro and con could be heard on the streets.

The bag got into the hands of the Florida National Bank officials, and they, after determining that there couldn't be very much of anything in it, sent it to the Bank in Coral Gables as that name was inscribed on the side of the bag.

Reports to Mr. Wooten from the Coral Gables institution stated that it was a regular bag for carrying deposits to the bank, but the deposit had already been made and nothing remained inside except the deposit slip.

"Anyhow," said the bank, "the deposit wasn't near $50,000, let alone the reported $50,000. It's a small amount and we must have some excitement."

Meat Packing Plant Opens Here With Custom Service

Robert Kunkel, owner of the Kunkel Meat Co., announces the opening of a meat packing plant on the Kruming property at the prison farm on Aug. 10.

The plant, according to Mr. Kunkel, will have a capacity of twenty animals and is prepared to serve the individual with meat, cut and packaged for deep freeze.

"Miami is now taking a majority of the better beef from the Glades and I want to make available to all Glades merchants the best we produce here."

Mr. Kunkel and his father were headed to Belle Glade last year with the intent to establish a packing plant but his father's untimely death delayed the organization.

The Kunkel family has been in the wide experience in the meat packing business in New York State and in Pennsylvania and this background and experience will be available to the Glades rancher and cattle owner.

Mrs. Kunkel and the four children are living at present in the residence on the property.

Following are their answers:

Edw. Lively—"Yes, because there is nothing else to do and everybody else is there. I just have a lot of fun."

Carol Goforth—"It's the only place where the kids can get together and really have a good time."

John Friesheim—"Yes, well mostly because of the square dances. Dancing is one thing I love."

William—"Yes I do, since the Bend has been closed down there's no where else to go and because you have a lot of fun there."

Negro Killed In Crash On SR 80

Leonard Browning, 29, negro, of 109 S.W. 5th St., was killed instantly in a tractor trailer crash, at 12:10 p.m. Saturday, on State Road 80 across from the Okeechobee Migratory Camp.

According to Florida Highway Patrol Trooper J. P. Bertrand, the 1947 Cadillac driven by Browning, was traveling east at an unknown high rate of speed, crossed over the centerline and crashed into a tractor trailer moving west, owned by Allen Asheville Transfer and Storage Co. of Asheville, N. C., which was proceeding west at 35 miles per hour, driven by Embury Crawford, 59-year-old negro of Asheville.

The sedan hit the cab of the Reo truck with such force that its left fender was embedded in the grill work of the truck, glanced off, pivoted around and careened westward 75 feet before stopping.

The impact tore the front axle assembly off the truck, which careened to the side of the road several feet ahead into pine trees on the canal bank. The saddle tank (auxiliary gas) were thrown clear. Estimated damage to the cab, Trooper Bertrand said, was about $5,000. The truck driver was not injured and no damage was inflicted to the trailer. The sedan was a total loss.

The Belle Glade negro was a laborer working with Lutz Construction Co., on the Lake Levy at South Bay.

The body was taken to Taylor Funeral Home.

Belle Glade Loses To Lake Park Nine

Belle Glade emerged the loser in a 2-2 ball game played at Lake Park last Sunday. The game was a scoreless tie until the fourth inning when the local boys scored two runs. It looked as if Belle Glade had a sure win when the Lake Park nine came to bat in the last of the ninth. Then Brison, the Belle Glade catcher, hit a hard ground ball to the Belle Glade shortstop, Ed Kljanic. Kljanic fielded the ball, but his throw to Jerry Gummere, the first baseman, was wide and the umpire ruled Brison safe, saying that Gummere, stretching for the ball, pulled his foot out of the bag. This caused a bitter uprising from the Belle Glade fans who the Lake Park manager ever said the man was out. But the umpire's decision was not changed.

In 1954, purchases amounting to more than half a billion dollars gave a significant boost to personal savings by Floridians. We appreciate the cooperation of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday. The $5,759,000,000 life insurance package held by the people of the state at the first of the year was 71 per cent above the 1950 figure. This 1955 total represents $4,600 per family, yet is still considerably under the national figure of $8,300 per family. The current total is broken down in this week's business

Because Buick sales are soaring past all records—

We're declaring a profit-sharing bonus for you

1. You Profit on the Trade-In Deal —with the biggest allowances in our history.

2. You Profit on the Buy You Make
—because in Buick you get the thrill of the year—in style, power, performance, value.

3. You Profit on the Resale
—because a Buick always resells high—brings you more money when you trade it in.

$2628.00 delivered locally
—less the whopping big allowance we'll make on your present car!

THIS we've never seen before—a sales year that's shattering every record in the Buick book—soaring success far greater than the one that moved Buick to solidly into the Big 3 of America's best sellers.

So we're going to share profits with you—by stretching our regular big trade-in allowances to practically our break-even point.

That means you can now buy the most wanted Buick ever built—for less than ever before.

That means you can have Buick style distinction and prestige—Buick room and comfort—Buick size and solidity—for plenty dollars less on the profit-sharing deals we're making now.

And that means you can have, at the time you buy, the best action Buick in history—with whopping V8 power raised to new highs, and with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow—world's first and only transmission using the switch-plate principle of the modern plane's propeller.

Come in today—tomorrow, for sure—and see for yourself that you can now make the biggest buy of the year on the car that's far and away the thrill of the year.

Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow built into Buick. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional on other Buick models.

Thrill of the year is Buick—Biggest-selling Buick in History! (So we're trading high, wide—and then some.)

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM.

The Right To Bear Arms

During the relatively few years, perhaps 30, in which fire-arms control legislation has been prominent on the public scene, we have heard and read much about constitutional guarantees of personal liberties. There has been so much conflicting "expert" opinion, so many interpretations of constitutional law, that it is hardly surprising that widespread confusion exists in the minds of sincerely interested persons.

Do we, as law-abiding citizens, have an inalienable right to bear arms comparable to our right of assembly, of freedom of speech, and of freedom of worship? If legislation go before that right is infringed or disappears altogether?

The Second Amendment to the United States Constitution says:

"A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."

We have attempted varied interpretations of these words.

We prefer to believe that the simple, straight-forward language means exactly what it says.

We are constrained to remember, however, that this is as much a statement of fact as of law, and as such pertains to the powers of the Federal Government.

These words of the founding fathers hold their newly-formed national government what it may not do; and set forth that which it is permitted to do.

It is interesting to note that under two powers expressly delegated to the Federal Government—the power to tax and the power to control interstate commerce—the United States Congress enacted the National Firearms and the Federal Firearms Acts respectively. Both laws actually control the ownership or transporting of firearms by the citizenry. Both laws have been supported generally by the courts, although at least one provision of the Federal Firearms Act has been held unconstitutional. It is possible that other specific provisions might be also held unconstitutional, but there seems to be little doubt that basically the two laws cannot be attacked on constitutional grounds.

Nearly all the 48 states have, either in their constitutions or in their statutes, a provision markedly similar to the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution, referring specifically to the right to bear arms.

Under these guarantees some of the very early state laws restricting the carrying of concealed weapons were rule unconstitutional. A case of this sort was decided in Kentucky in 1822; subsequently the Kentucky Constitution was amended.

Today, there is no state law which does not regulate to some degree the carrying of concealed weapons. Their power to do so is the furtherance of the health, safety, and general welfare of the people, is seemingly evident beyond question.

We do not hold, nor have we ever held, that the right to keep and bear arms carries with it the right to go about armed without reason; the right of the addicted, criminal, or mentally unbalanced to possess weapons for their own or others' destruction; or the right of the law-abiding citizen to do whatever he wants whenever he wants without control of any kind.

Any right carries with it certain responsibilities and, in discharging those responsibilities, we surrender none of the basic right.

In this case the basic right, as we see it, is the right of the lawful citizen to own personal weapons and to use those weapons lawfully for recreation and for personal and national defense. The accompanying responsibilities are to see to it that we use our weapons safely, lawfully, and in observance of those controls imposed by proper authority for the welfare of all.

This is not to say that all proposed firearms controls are desirable or that they are all constitutional. It is to say that certain controls such as those which now exist over the "wearing" of concealed weapons are clearly constitutional and their being so does not affect the basic right to bear arms.

Going about armed with a concealed weapon is a privilege which the community properly reserves for those possessed of good reason. The fact that we are required to show reason for going armed with a concealed weapon should not be interpreted as an infringement upon the right to keep and bear arms.

Undoubtedly there is an inalienable right to own and to use private weapons for lawful purposes. This right is not cast in doubt by state laws controlling certain actions under their police power. On the other hand, the right can be infringed by unreasonable controls not related to the public safety or public welfare, and by the willful or arbitrary exercise of authority by appointed or elected officials.

These thoughts should be borne in mind as we continue our end-riding fight against unwise and unduly restrictive gun legislation. Our arguments must be tempered with judgment if they are to prevail.

Finally, the right to keep and bear arms imposes an obligation on us when, when needed, in defense of the nation. It was this obligation in particular that fostered the enactment of the Second Amendment at the first assembly of the Federal Congress 168 years ago. It is an obligation that has been a primary object of the National Rifle Association of America from 1871 onward. For we, more than any other organization in the United States, know that the right to keep and to bear arms by a loyal citizenry trained and prof-ficient in their use is necessary to the security of our free state.

World War II Vets Get One Year For Schooling Two Years For Loans

World War II veterans in Florida have one year from July 25 in which to complete GI training and two years in which to apply for GI loans, they were reminded today by V. S. Parker, manager of the Miami Regional Office.

July 25, 1956, marks the end of the education program for all but a few of the World War II veterans now in training under the original GI Bill.

GI training payments to schools and veterans will stop on that date even though a veteran may still have under training entitlement or be in the middle of a course.

The GI loan program, now at peak activity, has two more years to run, coming to end for practically all World War II veterans on July 25, 1957.

The small group of veterans exempted from these two deadlines are those who enlisted or re-enlisted under the Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act between October 6, 1945 and October 5, 1946. These veterans have nine years from the end of their enlistment or re-enlistment to finish GI training and ten years to apply for GI loans.

More than 90 per cent of the loans—3,750,000—were for the purchase of homes. Business loans totaled 220,000 and farms loans numbered 67,000.

More than 7,800,000—or half of all who served in World War II—received some sort of education or training under the GI Bill since 1944.

The peak of the GI Bill education and training program was reached in 1947 when more than 2,500,000 World War II veterans were in schools, on-the-job training establishments, or on farms throughout the country.

About 138,000 World War II veterans are still in training under the original GI Bill.

LIKES NOT HOLDING UP COAST GUARD PAYI

The August quota for the U. S. Coast Guard recruits was received at the Miami recruiting station today and it was announced that vacancies in various petty officer ratings are open for veterans.

Both veterans and men with no previous military experience are eligible to enlist, provided they meet the physical and mental requirements of the Coast Guard.

A young man just entering the Coast Guard receives 12 weeks of recruit training at the Coast Guard Receiving Center, Cape May, N. J. Upon completion of this training he is transferred to one of the many Coast Guard ships or installations throughout the United States and its possessions. An enlisted man also receives highly specialized training in many enlisted phases of Coast Guard duty.

For the veteran there are vacancies in petty officer ratings of Electronics Technician, Aviation Technician, and Fire Control Technician up to first class. Quartermaster, Sonarman, Gunnersmate, Radioman, Machinist Mate, Engineer, Electrician's Mate and Aviation Mechanic are open up to second class petty officer and the ratings of Hospitalman and Aerographer are open for third class petty officers.

For both the recruit and the veteran there is good pay and excellent retirement when he retires, if it is desired to improve the present, and go forth into the shadowy future without fear and with a manly heart.

Look not mournfully into the past, it is already dead, and it is better to improve the present, and go forth into the shadowy future without fear and with a manly heart.

"Blue Monday" Is Not So Blue Anymore

Thanks to today's manufacturers of home laundry equipment, "Blue Monday" is not so blue anymore. The new washers and dryers take most of the drudgery out of washdays for the modern homemaker, especially when they're finished in smooth, sanitary Porcelain Enamel. This "Lifetime Finish" will never stain, which means bleaches, laundry soaps and detergents can do no harm. A Porcelain Enamel finish on washer and dryer tubs and drums can't rust and another advantage, its smooth surface lets clothes slide and tumble freely. So your laundry is easier to handle and your "like-new" look for years comes when they're finished—inside and out—with Lifetrim Porcelain Enamel.
